

PVStream- web based platform that provides all services needed for PV project development through all of its stages: lead generation, proposal, design, and post-installation monitoring

Description

PVStream unites over a decade of scientific experience in the field of renewable energy with 11 years of software development for solar energy industry with practical experience in residential installations to create , flexible all- in -one web-based platform that allows solar energy companies to significantly reduce soft costs and streamline PV project development processes, thus making solar energy more attractive for the end-user

PVStream

PVStream
Latvia

Business Model

PVStream is offered on a subscription model, where subscriptions can be paid both monthly or yearly and the price depends on the functionalities chosen for each user seat

Category

Solar; Batteries; Analytics

Target

We aim to finalize the project development concept, establish relationships with potential customers and industry gurus

Contact

Julija Kadisa
julia.kadish@Pvstream.com
<http://www.pvstream.com>

Notes
